The invitation for a complimentary skin analysis by the founders of Skin 2 Skin cosmetics at Henri Bendel's in New York was difficult to decline. I had heard so much about the line of anti-aging products which are sold locally at the cutting-edge Luna Stone Med Spa in Calabasas (23659 Calabasas Rd., www.launastonemedspa.com).

So since I couldn't personally attend, I did the next best thing and sent NY photo journalist Linda Covello to cover the event for us.

Linda loved her session and now armed with swag bag full of products, has become a dedicated fan. Here's her report:

The morning I was scheduled for a skin analysis with a Skin 2 Skin care expert at Henri Bendel was a shameful one for me. I had been out working two events the night before with a serious after hours party and pub crawl to cap it off. I had flopped into bed with full makeup and thus I was raccoon eyed and very puffy when I sat before Michelle Chatham, Skin 2 Skin's rep from Florida. I shrugged off my embarrassment and decided to see what could be done for my exhausted skin with the product line I was there to experience.

I made a full confession to the understanding yet admonishing Michelle and she went to work cleaning my skin efficiently and gently with the White Tea Anti-Aging face wash. Immediately I was refreshed and rejuvenated as the gentle and soft fluid brought me back to life.

As she massaged the Anti-Aging Revitalizing Eye Gel on my lids I could feel my eyes return to normal, but with the added benefit of soft moisture covering my lids. For an extra boost, Michelle also buffed my face with the Oatmeal & Pomegranate Face Scrub. This gentle exfoliation was just what my skin required to cleanse away the city grime and the aftereffects of a night partying.

After the mini treatment, Michelle handed me a mirror and the face that looked back at me was glowing and refreshed. The sun was shining brightly outside on Fifth Avenue, so it was very comforting to know I was going to walk outside Bendel's doors with a protective layer of the Photoaging Repair Cream as well as a coating of the Anti-Photoaging SPF 30 with a Light tint. The rough night was cleansed away from my face and I strolled down the avenue with confidence, secure in the knowledge that even without a hint of makeup on my face, my skin looked as radiant as it felt.

I was resolved not to let myself slack in my skin care again. Armed with my new products from Skin 2 Skin care I was determined to become disciplined and consistent no matter how late I stayed out or how rushed I was in the morning.
